Important information about procedures for opening a new account, changing an account or performing transactions with First State Bank.

Section 326 of the USA PATRIOT ACT requires all financial institutions to obtain, verify, and record information that identifies each person who opens an account or changes an existing account. This federal requirement applies to all new customers and current customers. This information is used to assist the United States government in the fight against the funding of terrorism and money-laundering activities.

What this means to you: when you open an account, change an existing account or perform a transaction, we will ask each person for their name, physical address, mailing address, date of birth, and other information that will allow us to identify them. We will ask to see each person's driver's license and other identifying documents and copy or record information from each of them.

When opening or updating an account, we may also ask other information of you required by current regulatory guidance such as if you perform money services business activities; if you may be related to any foreign political official; and what levels of different types of transactions you expect to perform in your account.
